1) Question: This question relates to the 40 Page limit for the bid submission.

Do the documents identified in the "Summary of Documentation Required" on pages C-5 and C-6 count against the 40 page limit? Our detailed plans, QA policies, Manuals, and other documents alone exceed 40 pages before we submit anything for written review. Also, would a table of contents count against our page limit?

Answer: The Table of Contents and drawings will be excluded from the 40 page limit. However, all other content will need to adhere to the 40 page limit.

2) Question: Do plans, related to code compliance, need to be inspected by a third party when proposals are due?

Answer: The Alternative units must be certified by 3rd party to established building codes prior to submitting the proposal to FEMA.

3) Question: On the pricing grid is the facility for the delivery for CLIN 0005 known yet?

Answer: Units will either be delivered to a Government facility in Selma, Alabama, Cumberland, Maryland, or to another location using a per mile rate.
